About Portland Audubon

Portland Audubon has been a leading voice in conservation for over a century. Through conservation advocacy, environmental education, and wildlife rehabilitation, we promote the understanding, enjoyment, and protection of native birds, other wildlife and their habitats. We are located in a 172-acre wildlife sanctuary next to Forest Park, just minutes from downtown Portland.

Portland Audubon believes that inspiring all people to love and protect nature is best achieved when we embrace diversity as a value and practice. In the same way an ecosystem needs many types of plants and wildlife, an organization thrives when it includes a diversity of people and perspectives. We recognize that inequities are widespread and create gaps between our present reality and our aspirations. We are committed to building a diverse and inclusive environment, reflecting the diversity of our community in our board, staff, volunteers, and members; ensuring our internal culture, business practices, and programs are welcoming and advance our diversity goals.

In the coming years, under the leadership of our new Executive Director Stuart Wells, Portland Audubon is deepening our commitment to environmental justice and equitable access to the outdoors. In service to this mission, we’re expanding our development team to grow the organization’s capacity to address critical conservation throughout the state, deepen relationship-building with frontline communities, strengthen equity-focused environmental education programs, and complete our Wildlife Care Center.
Grant Specialist

Position Summary

The Grant Specialist is a newly established position that will foster new and existing relationships with funders. They will play a vital role cultivating a base of support for our growing work to dismantle historic barriers to nature and conservation. In partnership with leadership across our organization, the Grant Specialist will identify new opportunities to fund a suite of cutting edge programs in conservation and education, ranging from youth leadership to urban natural resource management to community science across the state. As such, the Grant Specialist must have a dedication to advancing equity in the outdoors and a strong comfort engaging in conversations around issues of environmental justice and systemic oppression. Candidates with a background or lived experience advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) are strongly encouraged to apply.

The ideal candidate will communicate effectively about a wide array of conservation priorities and education initiatives as well as Portland Audubon’s work as a whole. They are responsible for implementing and maintaining development strategy across several programs, projects, and campaigns focusing on foundation and corporate support. In collaboration with program and development leadership, they will establish target revenue goals, craft programmatic messaging for grants and white papers, and manage a grants calendar that includes upwards of 15 grants per year.

Essential Duties

- Identifies and cultivates foundation and corporate funders across the state and region. In partnership with programmatic leadership, acts as the voice of Portland Audubon with potential institutional funders.
- Works in partnership with department Directors and program staff to draft, edit, finalize and submit grant proposals and white papers.
- Monitors and facilitates grant reporting for foundations. Builds out and manages a grants calendar and ensures all report and proposal deadlines are met.
- Fosters strong working relationships with Portland Audubon's internal departments and supports teams in applying an equity lens to all aspects of our programs.

Additional Responsibilities

- Updates and maintains internal grant records.
- Crafts personalized acknowledgments upon receiving grant funding for tax purposes.
- Researches and identifies new corporate and foundation prospects for funding. Designs, analyzes and produces reports, historical trends, grant forecasting, and performance towards established goals.
- Collaborates with various individuals who have developed their own strong voices in describing their programs and complex environmental practices.
- Work with the development team to support future and ongoing updates to the department.
- In partnership with the Director and Assistant Director of Development, establishes target revenue goals to meet the programmatic needs for corporate and foundation funding.
- Works collaboratively in a diverse team environment with a spirit of cooperation.

Diversity Statement

Portland Audubon believes that inspiring all people to love and protect nature is best achieved when we embrace diversity as a value and practice. In the same way an ecosystem needs many types of plants and wildlife, an organization thrives when it includes a diversity of people and perspectives. We recognize that inequities are widespread and create gaps between our present reality and our aspirations. Audubon is committed to:

- Reflecting the diversity of the community in our board, staff, volunteers, and members.
- Ensuring our internal culture, business practices, and programs are welcoming and advance our diversity goals.
- Empowering people to make positive changes in their community and environment.

Portland Audubon is nearing the end of a five-year strategic plan. A core priority moving forward is to infuse equity, inclusion, and diversity (EID) into all of the goals and work of the organization. This position will play an important role in achieving the organization’s EID goals through engagement with staff, board members, donors, volunteers and the public. We recognize that in order to serve diverse communities we must also have diversity represented in our staff.
